

PUBLIC CONDEMNS TOO QUICKLY, SAYS WILSON

Prominent Packer Issues Statement
Telling the Principal Things
Needed by Meat Industry

WELCOMES INVESTIGATION

Accountants Would Receive Attention
If They Would Examine and Make Clear Report

OFFICE, Aug. 31.—Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co. packers and chairman of the meat committee of Americans, sat packers in his office today and gave his opinion as to what the packers need, what is wrong with them and his view of the future of the industry. In view of the recent statement of the kind industry in the meeting put the three points in the form of questions for the chairman to answer. He suggested five needs as follows:

An accounting commission, composed of recognized, expert men, to examine all accounts, divorced from politics, to make a public report and make public an investigation report.

A non-political investigating body to examine the meat industry from east to west and give all the facts ascertained, with recommendations for improvements.

An advisory conference composed of representatives of all packers, the producers and the government to study to stabilize somewhat the relation between supply and demand, also to try and regulate the demand for meat products and influence the production, shipment of live stock according to market conditions.

A fifth point, determining just as to whether packers and other groups in business are helping to packers' interests in stock yards.

Some special agency, composed of recognized economists, to report on the causes of the high cost of living.

The principal thing wrong with the packing industry, said the statement, is a general suspicion that something is wrong. The suspicion inflamed at a critical time by uninformed agencies has diverted some of our energies and some part of our personnel from our progressive labors. We have been forced into defense while we were planning construction.

"We cannot serve the people as well when we are suspected in advance, accused without having offended, condemned before we are tried, convicted and distrusted at every turn," said his statement.

Raw materials of meat packing have only 12½ per cent of their value added by manufacturers, he said, and only about 2 per cent of the total cost value represents the packers' rate of profit.

The packing business now is on a keenly competitive basis, the statement continued. Cold storage means protection against a scant season, it said, storage stocks are small when compared to the national consumption of about 88,000,000 pounds daily.

The farmers now represent 40 per cent of the total population of the country, with the ratio diminishing steadily. Two things, according to the statement, must be done:

"First, farming must be commercialized. If the farmer becomes a business man, then the most real financial gains can live off his toll without adequate compensation.

"Secondly, production must have a speaking acquaintance with consumption—with demand. It is un-economic to raise more food than is needed and then turn around, because prices are low and raise less food than is needed. In some way demand must be forecasted and production measured accordingly."

COUNCILMEN TABOO FULL DRESS; DRESS LIKE HUMANS

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 31.—Spitkiss, silk hats and Prince Alberts are taboo among Los Angeles city councilmen.

"I'll dress like a human being," asserted Councilman Ralph C. Criswell, when he appeared for the first reception committee was under discussion recently.

"Aye, aye," echoed Councilmen Wheeler, Fleming and Farmer.

But when the Pacific fleet arrived several of the councilmen softened and steepling headgear appeared among the derby and straw hats.

FLASH OF TIN BADGES PARTS HIM AND $1,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 31.—All are not skeptics who sport tin badges and carry guns.

Joseph Gainer is now fully cognizant of the truth of this aphorism. It cost him $1,000 to earn it. Men entered Gainer's home and flashed shiny badges, telling him that they were searching for "revolutionary literature." Discovering that Gainer had a belt full of money threw them off the scent of the red literature, however, and Gainer is safer, but wiser.

NEWTON'S "COMET" WAS LANTERN TIED TO BOY'S KITE

NEWTON, Mass., Aug. 31.—Something like Mr. Pickwick—mysterious night fashions flickered over Newton. It bobbed about the sky in the most erratic manner and was carried along by the wind, lighting groups on the streets as a comet, shooting stars or just a streak of meteors.

The latter guess was the nearest because it was just a lantern that a kite-wield by an ingenious boy who was revolving. Franklin's start of making light from the Benjamin

STRANGE FISH CONSIST OF MOUTH, HEAD AND TAIL

VENICE, Cal., Aug. 31.—A strange fish, approximately nine feet in length and consisting mostly of mouth, head and tail, was swimming much interest here. The freak specimen was found on the beach by Frank Bremmer, a native. In the mouth the fish ate a large crew of insects. The eyes are on the nose as always. The exterior resembles a gigantic salpula.

WALL STREET FEELS EFFECTS OF UNREST

High Price Agitation, Labor Troubles and Political Unrest Settles on Money Exchange.

NYC, Aug. 31.—Labor unrest, as the price agitation, political unrest and the foreign exchange crisis were again uppermost in the week's irregular and reducing stock stakes on the stock exchanges.

The same situation, so far as it related to the railroads, assumed more serious aspects, however, due to the cold attitude of the administration of the Pacific states and the conservative policy of the labor organizations.

Put to a cooling down of general trade, as well as from the uncertainty attending current economic issues and additional declines in agriculture exports were traced in part to the unsatisfactory exchange situation.

Political recovery in the London rate was partly forfeited on the assumption that the Bank of England had suspended interest payment on foreign deposits and Indian exchange was given to a new low record with concurrent heaviness in Spanish securities.

London may be in further communication with their European neighbors in an earnest effort to correct exchange conditions, but little has been made.

Meanwhile financial institutions and their agents engaged in export trade by direct contracting heavily losses.

Business stability conditions reflected the negotiations now making for strong autumn crops to maintain high prices, though in free supply, and time offerings raised at the same figure with scant offerings.

ADA MAN ANNOUNCES FOR CONGRESS; SINGLE-TAXER

Special to The World

ADA, Aug. 31.—M. L. Chambers, former limo operator for the Ada News, has announced his candidacy for congress to succeed Tom M. Keown, who is advertising the single tax as the basis of his campaign.

Chambers says that all other methods of reducing the high cost of living, increasing labor and settling all questions of injustice are wrong.

In his statement among other things he says, "I am certain that in six years the people will be so pressed down by the heavy cost of living that they will be ready to explore a real cure in this problem and listening to the soft soaping of the single tax as the best method of reducing the high cost of living.

Now we must do all in our power to counteract this destructive interest that is sweeping over the country. The first step is for every thinking home manager to plan her buying as she never planned it before. Use every thrifty suggestion she can find, see that there is al-

FINDS KIDNAPED DAUGHTER AFTER 15-YEAR SEARCH

PRINCETON, W. Va., Aug. 31.—After a search of 15 years that led him all over the country, W. C. Boswell, a laborer, found his daughter, who was kidnapped at the age of 7 in Kanawha county, this state. The girl was kidnapped as the outgrowth of a quarrel between Boswell and another man, the latter being shot and seriously wounded by Boswell.
